Pension funds unfazed by hedge fund industry setback

Despite watching their investment billions in hedge funds shrivel, pension funds and endowments aren't abandoning ship, consultants and investors say

The following is according to a story by Reuters published on May 19: Although