

Hedge funds reveal themselves for institutional money

In the future, hedge funds most likely are going to notch up their level of transparency to meet the demands of institutional investors.

Reuters reports in a story published on June 3, that hedge funds are expected to become mor