

Indexes signal better returns for hedge funds

Several indexes suggests that a rising stock market and an increase in merger activity has bolstered some hedge fund investment strategies during last month

The following is according to a HedgeWorld story published June 7. Data