

Pension funds continue their move into alternative investment

According to a new survey, pension funds invested more than $62 billion in alternatives last year

The following is according to a story by HedgeWeek, published on June 24. According to a new survey by Watson Wyatt, pension funds