

Hedge funds won't match last year's gains

With money flow into hedge funds dropping due to recent lackluster returns, hedge funds analysts are making matters worse by predicting lower returns compared with 2004.

Even if clear stock and currency trends boost performance over coming month