

Limited data hinders hedge fund transparency

According to the Bank of England, regulators run the risk of not being able to monitor hedge funds properly due to the lack of data on them

The following is according to Reuters, in a story published on June 27: According to the