

Merrill Lynch: Investors in European credit markets will reduce exposure significantly

According to a new survey by Merrill Lynch, almost a third of investors in Europe's credit markets plan to reduce their exposure to the credit markets in the months to come

The following is according to MarketWatch, in a story p