

Greenspan: Hedge funds help make the economy more flexible

Greenspan has stated that financial flexibility is possibly the most important contributor to economic gains over the past two decades.

September 28 (HedgeWorld): In a speech given to the National Association of Business Economi