

More European managers leave for hedge funds

According to a new survey by financial analysis firm Morningstar, more managers are leaving their traditional funds to manage hedge funds or smaller boutique style investment houses.

According to a fresh survey conducted among s