

Retail demand drives European structured derivatives growth

European institutional investors have stepped up their investment in customized OTC and securitized equity derivative products.

November 14 (HedgeWeek): According to Greenwich Associates, European institutional investors have st