

Commodity investment set to rise sharply

According to a survey by Barclay's Capital, investors plan to raise their exposure to commodities over the next three years.

December 16 (Reuters): According to a new survey by Barclay's Capital, investors plan to raise their exposure to commodities over the next three years.