

Hedge fund fees to cave in under pressure of dull performance

Reuters reports that some hedge fund fees could halve during coming months after recent dissapointing returns have exposed managers with limited talent.

December 15 (Reuters): According to hedge fund investors speaking to Reuter