

Firms that Satisfy Customers Yield Higher Investment Returns at Lower Risk; New Research Proves Link Between the American Customer Satisfaction Index (ACSI) and Stock Prices

New research shows that by investing in firms that treat their customers well, it is not only possible to consistently beat the market, but to lower risk at the same time.

December 30 (BusinessWire): New research from the Univer