

Investors look ahead to credit market correction

Investors are on a quest to find hedge fund managers who will be able to make money when the corporate bond market bubble bursts, even though strong demand for new bond issues suggests another market tendency.

February 7 (Re