

Fund managers expect stock market correction

Fund managers cut their exposure to stocks for the third month running as worries about an equity market correction and slower economic growth have risen

February 28 (Reuters): For the third month running, fund managers cut