

Emerging stocks not overbought

According to a prominent industry figure, emerging market stocks are still reasonably priced and are unlikely to experience a major sell-off.

April 24 (Reuters): According to high-profile Franklin Templeton fund manag