

Iceland's Bond Costs May Increase as Hedge Funds Flee

Iceland most likely will see the highest bond prices in six years when it sells government bonds this week as the central bank raises interest rates and hedge funds stir up the nation's markets.