

The Bank of New York/Amber Partners Report: Institutional investors must face the challenges of operational risk

Institutional investors need to focus more on operational risk processes when choosing hedge fund managers, according to new research.

June 6 (HedgeWeek): According to a new white paper commissioned by The Bank of New York, ins