

Volatility on a secular downtrend, financial shocks less frequent

According to new research, the recent years have seen the overall price volatility significantly decreased.

September 1(HedgeWorld): HedgeWorld reports that according to The Bank for International Settlements report titled