

Volvo pension fund contemplates abandoning its hedge fund investments

Citing disappointing returns, the corporate pension fund of Swedish trucking giant Volvo is currently contemplating to give up its hedge fund allocation, in favour of either asset redistribution or alternative property investment.