

Orc break-aways create rival company with hedge fund focus

A group of former Orc Software employees have created a rival in the trading software business called Tocarema. The company is going to focus on creating products for hedge funds.

Swedish daily Dagens Industri reports that a gro