

Absolute returns to be the focus of the Danish investment fund industry

As more and more Danish investment funds, or associations as they are called, make it their primary ambition to make profits for their investors, absolute return investment strategies are set to become a new industry trend.

Curr