

Microsoft launches MiFID package

Microsoft has launched a new package of software and services designed to help financial services providers comply with the EU's Markets in Financial Instruments Directive (MiFID), which is expected to become effective in November.