

Swedish financial professionals: Swedish investors are too cautious

Swedes are still marked by the dotcom bubble in 2000, it causes them to invest much too cautiously. Professional investors are no better as they focus more and more on hedge fund investments in order to reduce risk, according to industry members.