

Consultants downplay pension fund demand for hedge fund indices

According to consultants, the demand for hedge fund index investments by pension funds is minimal and that the introduction of replicator funds could spell the end of the investment type.

March 12 (GlobalPensions): Pensio