

German call for more hedge fund regulation rejected

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) does not believe that tighter hedge fund regulation along the lines suggested by Germany is needed. Instead, governments should focus on establishing responsible macroeconomic policies.