

European hedge funds to research code of conduct possibility

A working group consisting of the 13 largest European hedge fund companies, including Swedish Brummer & Partners, has initiated a study looking into the creation of voluntary European industry standards.

June 19 (Financial