

Danish fixed income hedge funds only marginally affected by subprime chaos

While a number of fixed income hedge funds from the US to Australia are experiencing return adversity following the implosion of subprime loans in the US, Danish fixed income hedge funds are seemingly only feeling the general market unrest, as t