

Subprime woes leave pension funds undaunted

While financial unrest spurred on by the US subprime crisis persists, pension funds are taking the development in stride, according to a new survey.

September 18 (GlobalPensions.com): A majority of pension funds claim that they