

Big drive into alternative assets from institutional investors

European institutional investors plan to put more than €100bn into alternative assets in the next two to four years,