

Hedge funds could influence US election

February 14th (Reuters): The hedge fund industry could play an important role in the US election as funds donate money to back politicians' campaigns. In 2007, hedge funds gave approximately USD 3.2 billion to presidential candidates.