

S&P anticipate end to sub-prime losses

March 14th (Financial Times): According to Standard & Poor's the end is in sight for large banks' sub-prime losses.

This is a brave prediction as banks are still worried about additional losses. Next week, Wall Street banks