

Banks cut money available to hedge funds

The FT reported last Thursday that banks have cut back their amount of money they are willing to lend to hedge funds