

Hedge fund sector feeling the pain

According to Financial Times hedge funds outside of Scandinavia have suffered their worst start to the year after March became one of the ugliest months for popular investment strategies and several funds imploded.