

Hedge funds invading the gas market

Hedge funds are increasingly interested in the gas market said Heren Energy.

While Gas producers are less willing to sell their gas forward on long-term contracts. A reason may be that the production takes place in the North sea