

President Bush: Have confidence in the future

President Bush said Friday, in a short statement from the White House, that Americans should have confidence in the future of the American economy. He assures that the government is working aggressively with its global partners and that the gov