

Credit managers are changing their investment strategies

The Hedge Fund Journal: Credit asset managers are changing their investment strategies and product offerings in response to ongoing credit market dislocations, according to a new report published by Fitch Ratings.

In view of curr