

Barclays sees $50 billion hedge fund inflows in 2009

Improving markets and a need to recoup 2008 losses will prompt investors to pour $50 billion into hedge funds this year and slow redemptions, Barclays Capital says in a report, according to Reuters.

More than 300 investors surveyed by Barclays'