

Hedge funds' biggest fear is more regulation

The greatest fear among hedge fund managers and executives, who have seen their industry shrink in the financial crisis, is neither the flight of wealthy investors nor ill-functioning markets but regulation.

This is according to a new survey pub