

Many hedge fund managers still under water

Hedge funds have generated strong returns this year, but the $1.4 trillion industry remains in a sticky financial situation because many firms have yet to recoup losses from 2008, leaving them missing out on lucrative fees, according to Wall Street Jour