

Scandinavian funds post strong investment gains

Several big Scandinavian pension funds reported strong investment gains for the first six months of the year, thanks to recovering markets and a better environment for active stock picking, suggesting investors who have kept faith in money managers' ability