

Catella fear major hike in interest rates in early 2010

Swedish Catella continues to take an optimistic view of corporate bonds, but fear a major hike in interest rates in early 2010, according to their September newsletter

The company think that Central Banks soon will face a difficult dilemma