

Radar still optimistic - Greece is too small to affect the global economy

Swedish Radar is still optimistic about the current environment. The fund believes that Greece is too small to affect the global economy and that the economic recovery is just