

Fourth Moment: The state of the global economy is weak

- In treasuries we have been short and wrong. We still believe in the reasoning behind our positioning, but in a low growth environment with central bank support it is taking painfully long for this to be realized. We a