

IPM: Mixed signals

- There are mixed signals in the data coming through, but it's by now clear that growth has taken a negative turn. Investors are trying to get their minds around whether or not we will see another round of recession or not in the developed world. Until