

OE Capital bring on Nicklas Fornander

Stockholm (HedgeNordic) - The Swedish advisory and capital introduction company Oscarsson & Engman Capital AB (OE Capital). OE Capital is expanding its advisory and capital introduction business with the appointment of Nicklas Fornander as Head of Sales. Nicklas Fornander will also become partner & board member in OE Capital when regulatory approval is granted.

Fornander previously worked as head of institutional sales at Invesco where he was responsible for the Nordic markets. Before that Nicklas held senior positions at Fidelity, Nordea Asset Management as well as at Skandia Insurance.

OE Capital is an independent Nordic advisory and capital introduction firm with a focus on Alternative Investments, located in Stockholm. OE Capital work with a limited number of managers within different strategies and diversified geographical areas, which Oscarsson and Engman judge to be best and most interesting for institutional investors based in Northern Europe.

“There are plenty opportunities for further expanding and growing the business where we will appreciate Nicklas’ expertise”, the firms’ CEO Magnus Oscarsson tells HedgeNordic over the phone “none the less the change in the Swedish buffer fund arena.

OE Capital will also be seeking to add at least one additional fund “likely from the alternative space” to its offering that does not conflict with the current range of strategies the company is working with.
