

Italian pension funds cut bonds in diversification push

Italian pension funds reduced their aggregate exposure to government bonds last year as investors diversified their investment portfolios, according to the national pensions regulator COVIP. At end-2017, government securities made up an average 41.5% of portfolios, a five percentage point decrease from the previous year, the regulator reported. Other [...]

Click here to view original web page at www.ipe.com