On Putin's Most Wanted List: Hedge Fund Founder Bill Browder

(Barrons.com) – Browder and Hermitage might seem a lesser worry than Syria or Crimea, but the Kremlin's obsession with Browder shows how successful the money manager has been in winning sanctions against the Russian officials he says were involved in the imprisonment and death of a Hermitage employee, Sergei Magnitsky. He died in a Moscow jail after bringing the tax fraud to the attention of Russian prosecutors.

Click here to view original web page at www.barrons.com