

A culture war is brewing between bitcoin's old and new money

One point of contention in the bitcoin community involves the ownership of the site Bitcoin.org, which exists as a destination to evangelise bitcoin and educate newcomers. There are calls for the removal of the site's main proprietor, known under the pseudonym Cobra, because of concerns about his unpopular, pseudo-anarchist [...]

Click here to view original web page at www.scmp.com