

New hedge fund management fees edge higher

(HedgeWeek) - North American hedge funds which launched in 2018 are charging 1.46 per cent management fees on average, marginally higher than the global industry average of 1.40 per cent, according to data released by EurekaHedge.

The last two years have seen average management fees moving higher, following five consecutive years of decline.

Read the full article here

Picture: (c) Terrance-Emerson—shutterstock.com